The company's assets will be sold, and the proceeds will be distributed to the public. The court also ordered the company to pay damages to the government. U. S. CARRIAGE PASSES AWAY
After a sickness of two months, due to a complication of diseases, Representative Joseph P. McCarthy, a popular member of the U. S. House of Representatives, has been elected to the U. S. House of Representatives.

It Was Discouraging
When the doctors told me they could do nothing for me because I was too old to build on.
My health and strength seemed so broken down there was no foundation.
It was like trying to build a house on a bad of sand.
I was sick with cerebral neuritis, and a complication of diseases, and nervous prostration included.
I decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I am thankful I did.
It was a wonderful cure, and I am now in perfect health, and I am now in perfect health, and I am now in perfect health.

Captain Duquesne, now every mile of the ground over which Roosevelt will travel—knows from long experience the dangers, the adventures, every phase of the life. Many big game stories have been written by men who have never been nearer Africa than a reference library. You note the difference between the real and the imitation when you read the article by Captain Fritz Duquesne, the Boer ivory hunter, in "Hampton's Magazine."

BOSTON AMERICAN

80 AND 82 SUMNER ST., BOSTON, JANUARY 16, 1909

To Show Sympathy
for Earthquake Sufferers

Give a Warm Welcome to Immigrants from Italy. Drop Ignorant Race Hatreds

America contributed liberally to the victims of the earthquake in Italy. Two or three millions of cash at least have been sent. But that is not the real help that America has to give. AND WILL GIVE.

Today victims of the earthquake are beginning to land in this country. Thousands made homeless and deprived of work will find homes and work here. Real human sympathy will be shown in the brotherly hospitality with which these unhappy travellers will be welcomed by America.

We have plenty of money here—even though it be badly divided—and we are liberal with money. But mere cash, even counted in millions, amounts to little. They call this the land of the dollar, but it is really the land of the home, of hospitality, of welcome to all nations.

Every one of us is an immigrant, or the descendant of an immigrant. We all of us owe what we have and what we are to the fact that America is a free nation, open to all that have the energy to come here.

The United States should be today more than ever hospitable and eager in welcoming Italians driven from their homes by the great calamity. We can prove our kindness of heart, and try to deserve the comfort and security that we enjoy, by our treatment of those less fortunate.

Small minds afflicted with the ignorance that makes other races detested should fight that particular smallness.

Stupid newspapers that delight in talking about the "Black Hand" and the "Mafia" are requested to drop their fomenting of quarrels and hatreds with silly tales.

Italians from the beginning have been useful, valuable, peaceful additions to our country. They are faithful workers, descendants of a very great race—great in the past, great in the present, and to be greater in the future.

The civilization that came to our country from England so long ago was sent to England by France, and sent into France by the Romans.

Americans of all kinds, immigrants of yesterday, or the last century, or the century before, can show their decency in welcoming all Italian immigrants, wiping out and forgetting differences of race, trivial differences that have caused misunderstandings in the past.

Welcome to all victims of the Italian disaster! Good and permanent homes to them, and good fortune here!

A gallant feat of horsemanship and endurance was chronicled between Washington and Warren, Virginia, on Wednesday. It is worthy of more than ordinary mention from the fact that it is the vindication of intelligent athletics diligently preserved in the highest and most dignified station in the world by a typical American gentleman.

If the President, with his crowding duties, can find time to preserve his physical vigor, any private citizen can surely follow his example.

It is also an inspiring example of leadership in the fact that the Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy of the United States vindicates the reasonableness of tanks imposed upon the common soldier by performing TWICE THE SAME TASK HIMSELF.

The value of physical strength and energy developed and conserved in the human body is that it carries red blood and both physical and mental vigor into every phase of life, and the President's remarkable feat of physical endurance, performed by a public official constantly and absorbingly engaged in the routine matters of a great and confining official position, is an evidence of the fact that similar training and resolute care will build up American manhood everywhere to greater feats of physical endurance and of soundness and wholeness of mind and body.

Incidentally this demonstration of the physical powers of Mr. Theodore Roosevelt will be commended to the careful attention and to the prudent consideration of Senator Foraker and Senator Tillman and those warlike individuals who have expressed the view that the President would not dare to exploit out of public office his opinion of certain gentlemen which he has freely expressed in his official state.

We cannot deliver to these eminent gentlemen a more practical expression of our friendly good will than to urge them to read the record of the Warren ride and to dismiss this dangerous fallacy from their indignant imagination.

THE BORDERLAND

By Ella Wheeler Wilcox

I STEP across the mystic borderland
And look upon the wonder-world of Art—
How beautiful, how beautiful its hills!
And all its valleys, how surprising fair!
THE winding paths that lead up to the heights
Are polished by the footsteps of the great;
The mountain peaks stand very near of God;
The chosen few whose feet thereof have trod
Have talked with Him and with the angels walked.
HERE are no sounds of discord, no profane
Or senseless gossip of unworthy things;
Only the songs of chords and of pens,
Of busy brushes, and evocative strains
Of souls surcharged with music most divine.
Here is no idle sorrow, no poor grief,
For any day or object left behind,
For time is counted precious; and herein
Is such complete abandonment of self
That tears turn into rainbows, and enhance
The beauty of the land where all is fair.
A WED and afraid, I cross the borderland,
Oh, who am I, that I dare enter here
Where the great artists of the world have trod,
The genius-crowned aristocrats of Earth?
Only the singer of a little song;
Yet loving Art with such a mighty love
I hold it greater to have won a place
Fert on the fair haunts of poets and of seers
Than in the outer world of greed and gain
To sit upon a royal throne and reign.

Living Is the Best Preaching

By ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

ARE you a student of the power of mind over matter? Are you a lover of every one you meet about you? "Universal Life Principles" and "Vitality" and "Mental and Spiritual Science," and all the other expressions so in vogue today among advanced thinkers.
If you are, see to it that your life illustrates your theories. Do not let it all end in talk.
I have known a self-suggesting woman
to use her income in literature and lectures and lessons on these subjects: "How to Control Destiny," "How to Grow Richness," "How to Attract Self-Interest," and
"How to Be Well and Prosperous." Yet she was always ailing. She had no money to pay her rent, and no respectable clothing for her wardrobe. She might be well and prosperous, but she was not. She was at almost any gathering of people identified with the "Universal Life" movement.
She was a Christian Science, or New Thought, or any other subject, a large majority of the unhappy and nervous and ailing beings
are to be encountered.
This is true, we know, of all the new thoughts, the new creeds, the new disciplines and discredited ways of earth materialism to new systems of thought, hoping to bring peace, happiness, and success to the unfortunate, representing a religion or theory, and failing its purpose in every instance. It is a matter of more than temporary regret.
Live first—talk afterward.
